BLANCHARD & HALL.

(Successors of H. H. Blanchard.)

We have for Sale, Rent and Exchange a large number of City Lots, Business Blocks, Home Sites and Rock County Farms, that all the other real estate dealers in this city have.

Residence from $200 to $10,000. Farms from $1,000 to $25,000. Any person wishing anything in the real estate line can serve his best interests best by calling on us. We have interest and best list of houses for sale, and offer the inducement that can be obtained elsewhere. If you don't get the best property and bargain it is because you do not patronize us.

Transactions between us and our patrons are strictly private.

We solicit the patronage of all persons who wish to sell or rent property. If we fail to sell or rent it for you, we will not charge. We show our property for sale. If you have property for sale or want to buy property, come and see us, take a ride and patronize us, and we will convince you that we are to be trusted.

—There will be a special meeting of Rock River Masonry (No. 3, I. O. O. F.), this evening in Odd Fellows' hall for work in all the degrees. A full attendance is requested.

—Rev. A. J. Van Wagner, of Seabolt, Mo., occupied the pulpit in the Congregational church yesterday morning and evening, and notwithstanding the cold weather, preached two very able sermons to large and appreciative congregations.

—Our fire department committee received a letter this morning from the Button Engine works, stating that the new engine was shipped on the 16th. Friday, and would come right through. This is a day or two later than anticipated and the engine need not be looked for before Wednesday morning.

—Last evening a couple were out sleighing, and turning the corner from Glen into Cornell street, one of the runners ran into the mouth of the carter, upsetting the outfit, and dumping the occupants head over head into a snow drift. The only damage resulting was a tangled up harness, snow covered robes and cold fingers.

—Joe Kelly, of Beloit, was before the municipal court this afternoon charged with being a common drunkard, and was given fifteen days in jail, on a bread and water diet, the judge remarking as he pronounced sentence, that if bread and water had no effect on him, he would turn him over to some temperance lecturer.

—Mr. John Baker, an engineer on the Chicago & Northwestern road, met with a serious accident at his home, No. 10 South Linn street on Saturday afternoon. He took up an axe for the purpose of splitting some wood, and in some manner slipped, the blade of the axe striking his right thumb, splitting it down to the first joint. The wound is a very painful one, and will lay Mr. Baker up for some time.

—The Janesville Skating Rink company, which was organized some weeks ago, and mention of which was made in the Gazette at the time, held a meeting on Saturday afternoon, and elected officers as follows: President, Richard Valentine; Vice-President, C. S. Jackson; Secretary, John G. Rosford; Treasurer, F. C. Cook. We understand that the plans of the new rink have been received, and that the building will be ready for occupancy by the first of March.

—The K-O-no, skating rink company has been formed, and a lease of the Young America rink secured, which is now being thoroughly overhauled and refitted, and will be opened to the public on Thursday evening of this week. Mr. Albert Schaller will be the instructor, and Mr. C. S. Putnam the general manager. Plenty of the latest and best improved roller skates will be on hand, and the Bower City band will be present and furnish music for the occasion. The manager will spare no expense in making this the most comfortable place for roller skating in the city, and will see to it that the rink is kept warm and pleasant for all patrons. Remember the K-O-no rink opens on Thursday evening with music by the Bower City band.

—Adelia McGill was arrested on Saturday evening at the depot by Marshal Hogan, and taken to the county jail as a vagrant. This afternoon she was brought into the municipal court, and stated that she resided for the past two months in Whitewater, with her father and step-mother; for five years previous to that time she had been in the Minnesota reformatory school; was eighteen years old; that on Tuesday night last she ran away from home with Joseph Bishop, the chimney sweep, and stayed with him in Milton; he left her at Milton, and after remaining at the hotel a couple of days, she was turned out and came to this city. Adelia appeared to be perfectly resigned to her fate, and admitted that she was a very bad girl, and did not know as her father wanted her to return home. She was turned over to Sheriff Hawthorn for a few days, for the purpose of giving the authorities time to inform Adelia's father of her whereabouts.

A New Departure.

Mr. J. W. Smith, the west side hide dealer, has just completed arrangements to handle oils of all kinds at wholesale and retail. He proposes to put a wagon on the streets and take orders for the retail trade, and supply a first class oil at satisfactory prices. For the wholesale trade he will carry a stock of oils at his place of business and be prepared to furnish in any quantity at rates that will be found to advantage to dealers. Mr. Smith has facilities for procuring oil at first hands, from a Cleveland refinery, and proposes to give the people of Janesville and Rock county the benefit of these facilities. Give him a trial.

Who of us are without our troubles, be they small or large? The blessings of health are best appreciated when we are sick and in pain. A hacking cough, a severe cold, or any throat or lung disease are very troublesome; but all these may be cured and permanently cured by Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure. Safe and pleasant for children. Price 50 cents. Trial size free. Sold by Stearns and Baker.

The Weather Forecast.

The days of prophetic vision are supposed, by most people, to belong to the distant past, and yet, occasionally, a man is found who aspires to notoriety, and professes to possess a store of supernatural knowledge. Among this class the "weather prophet" holds a conspicuous place, and as a rule, what he doesn't know about the temperature six months in advance, is hardly worth an effort to find out. He is usually a man well along in life, and his predictions are based on observations covering many years of experience.

One of these well worn and time honored specimens stood on the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets, one mild afternoon in the month of November, around him was gathered an interested crowd of listeners who evidenced their satisfaction by assenting to his remarks generally, and fanning themselves with their straw hats whenever the old man suggested that a mild winter was in store for all the inhabitants of Southern Wisconsin. The old veteran had the prospectors figured down fine. He hadn't lived seventy years for nothing, and he was positively certain about the weather.

The condition of the corn husks, and ground hops, and all other unfailing signs, pointed to an open winter. If Janesville people enjoyed the luxury of ice during the heated term of 1885, some enterprising merchant would find it necessary to make a tour of the British possessions in search of the congealed fluid, for it wouldn't be thick enough on Rock river to skim off, and the gas pump would furnish facilities for goose bathing all winter.

"No, boys," he continued; "I am right-down sorry for the men who make their money on winter clothing, for there won't be any demand for overcoats, and you won't need a glove or mitten all winter. If I was a blacksmith or cutter-builder, I would shut up shop and go to New Orleans, might just as well, as to stay around here waiting for business; for, I tell you, we are going to have a wet, open winter—plenty of mud, and warm weather. Mr. Venuor may be a false prophet, but old Bill Jones is a man of veracity, and what he doesn't know about the weather, you can't extract from an almanac."

The crowd dispersed, to take another drink on the strength of a salubrious atmosphere, and old William went home to have his linen, duster washed, so as to present a respectable appearance at church the next Sunday.

He hasn't been out since until one mild day last week, he ventured down town in an overcoat and mittens borrowed for the occasion. In answer to a question about the weather prospects he said, "Well, I was a little off on my prediction last fall, but I am going to venture the assertion that the back bone of winter is broke now."

This morning with the mercury struggling to demolish the tin vane at the base of the receptacle the following letter was addressed to the old prophet:

Mr. William Jones:

RESPECTED SIR: I take my pen in hand to inform you that you are an old deceiver. I am one of the fellows that stood with mouth wide open hearing you tell last fall about the warm climate of Wisconsin the coming winter. I and my partner are in the goose business living near the gas pump, and after getting your ideas about the open winter, we went to work setting all the geese we had and all we could borrow of our neighbors, cause we thought how we could raise two crops as well as one the same year. Likewise my partner thought how he might go up north and harvest a crop of ice and send it down here to sell next summer. Well, he went that warm spell in December and now he writes to me from Market, which is up to Lake Superior, and says how the weather is cold up there and the ice three feet thick and says he is working nine days and has got about two hundred tons corded up and wants to know if he shall ship any of it down before the first of March. He says perhaps the private families might get along till about the first of April, but he didn't know but the butchers might need some sooner. And then he wants to know how the geese are getting on, and says he supposes they have all learnt to swim in the gas pond since this.

Now, Mr. Jones, what I want to say to you is this, "Me and my partner will take care of the old geese, likewise the young ones, although the latter will never be of much account, but if you don't pay us for our time choppin' ice up in Michigan we will sue you for damages on short notice."

Just what Uncle Bill did about the matter is a question. If the present weather continues the Lake Superior ice would keep several days out doors even in this climate. About the best way out of it would be to have it sent down and thaw it out and bottle up the production for mineral water.

The best time for the average mortal to tell a true story about winter, is the following summer—even these statistics will vary. This cold Monday morning will go down to posterity with a record of from 20 to 40 degrees below zero, depending on the ability and memory of the historian. People respect a man who can relate a good yarn about a cold wave, and will tolerate him if he stretches a point several degrees; but "about a man" who knows all about the weather before it becomes a matter of record.

Tobacco Sales.

Sales of seed leaf tobacco reported by J. S. Gans' Son & Co., tobacco brokers, No. 131 Water street, New York, for the week ending January 10, 1885:

An End to Stone Mergings.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. I have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctor told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Kidney and Liver pills, and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at 50 cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Kidney and Liver pills at 25 cents per box by F. Sherer & Co.

PERSONAL.

—Miss Ella Hammond, of Chicago who has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Doe, of the first ward, returned to the city this morning.

—Mr. George Ranous, of Fond du Lac, is in the city visiting the family of his uncle, Mr. C. E. Ranous, agent of the Chicago & Northwestern railway company.

—Mr. Paul R. Colvin, who has been traveling with the Gibbs Linen Company combination for the past three months, returned to Janesville yesterday morning. The troupe left the road at Manchester, Iowa. Mr. Colvin will be at home for the rest of the season.

—Mr. Fred Sonnenborn having closed up his business affairs in this city, left yesterday for Savannah, Georgia, for the purpose of visiting a sister, his wife and children having gone thither some two weeks ago. After spending a few weeks in the sunny south, Mr. Sonnenborn will go into business at Milwaukee, Ia. His many Janesville and Rock county friends will wish him success in his new home.

OBITUARY.

HENRY CHENEY.

Another one of the early settlers of Rock county has passed to his reward. Mr. Henry Cheney, of La Prairie, died at 9 o'clock this morning, aged 81 years. Mr. Cheney was born in Orange county, Vt., in 1804, came to Wisconsin and settled in Janesville county in 1840, where he remained about five years, when he removed to Johnston in this county and in 1869 to La Prairie, where he has since resided. The deceased was well known and respected in this vicinity, and leaves a family of seven children, his wife having preceded him across the dark river but a few months. The deceased was taken ill with pneumonia on Friday last, and fell rapidly, breathed his last at nine o'clock this morning.

The funeral will be held at his late residence in the town of La Prairie, on Wednesday at 1 o'clock p. m.

JOHN SUMNER.

An old and respected citizen of Rock county, residing near Emerald Grove, died at his home this morning, aged 70 years.

WM. CLAYTON.

News reached the city this morning, that Mr. Wm. Clayton, of Monroe, for many years express manager between Monroe and Milwaukee, and lately a commercial traveler, died in Monroe this morning. Deceased was a member of Janesville Commandary No. 2, Knights Templar and was well known by many people in Janesville. It is understood that a delegation of Knights Templar of this city will go to Monroe to attend the funeral.

The Cold Wave.

The temperature this morning at 6 o'clock, taken at the weather office of the city of the Gazette, North Third street, was twenty-three degrees below zero, clear sky and light west wind. We hear reports of much lower temperature in different parts of the city, some down to 29 degrees. This, no doubt, is the cold wave of this season, and for comparison, our readers will be interested in reading of the cold day—January 1st, 1874, although the temperature was not as low by several (3) degrees as on February 2nd, 1875, yet the severe storm prevailing on that day made it impossible for people to be out of doors. It will be remembered that the cold New Year was general throughout the United States, and there was considerable suffering experienced by the army in the south. We republish the following from the files of the Gazette, January 2d, 1864:

"A Cold Snap—That venerable personage known as the 'oldest inhabitant,' has just been into the office to request us to make a note of the fact that the present cold snap is decidedly colder than has been experienced here, during the last twenty-five years. A very severe storm of snow and wind set in on Thursday morning and raged with unabated violence for thirty-six or forty hours, burying railroads under impenetrable drifts of solid snow and driving every living thing under shelter. The mercury sank rapidly down in the market until it touched a lower point than the Confederate currency, if such a thing were possible ranging from twenty-eight to thirty-two degrees below zero, freezing ears and feet, and turning the tips of gentlemen's noses with a rosate blanch, such as is sometimes the result of a long and laborious presence at the bar. As there was practically no communication between the city and country, it is impossible to obtain any items of intelligence with regard to casualties that we feel assured must have resulted to man and beast from the unprecedented cold that prevailed. The most popular book of the season was undoubtedly Dr. Kane's Arctic Expedition, and the question was simply discussed over red hot stoves, whether Kane's men or the boys at Camp Randall suffered most."

No train on our road arrived or departed from the station here yesterday, a circumstance that has probably never occurred since building of the railways. We hear reports of a number of deaths by freezing, but none of them are sufficiently authenticated to justify an attempt at details. The roads in the country must be blocked to that extent that it will require several days to clear them out. To-day has been more moderate, although cold enough to suit a Laplander."

In December, 1872, the 22d, 23d and 24th, were also noted for the extreme cold, but the coldest wave ever experienced here was on the 7th of February 1875, when the thermometer registered 40 degrees below zero. In noting this "cold snap," the Gazette, of February 13th, 1875, published the following:

"There has been no time, at least within the recollections of the oldest inhabitant here, when we had three colder days than Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of this week. The aggregate degrees below zero of the thermometer for these three days is 104 degrees, while the three excessively cold days, commencing January 1st, 1874, showed an aggregate of 84 degrees, and the three cold days, 22d, 23d, 24th December, 1872, aggregated the same, 84 degrees. The first three days of this week show 20 degrees colder than any other three consecutive days for the past twenty years."

The cold weather of to-day is much compared with the above.

PATHOS AND HUMOR.

The Philadelphia News: "The admirer of 'Mark Twain' and George W. Cable filled the first appearance in this city in double readings by these two friends, between whom there exists no rivalry, but a wonderful difference—the one overflowing with quaint humor, and the other the incarnation of almost painful pathos. The combination is a happy one. The readings are alternate, but intellectually great man have but time to touch sympathetic feeling, when the healthy reaction is started by Twain's bubbling humor, which comes in the guise of the ridiculous, the points of excellence of each being more sharply defined by the contrast."

"With the exception of 'King Solomon's Mines,' from the advance sheets from 'The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn,' and his responses to an encore, which was a selection from the same, Mr. Clemens' readings were from his familiar work, 'A Tramp Abroad.'"

"Mr. Cable, in his selections, contrasted himself to extracts from his latest work, 'Dr. Sever.' His voice is against him in the portrayal of strong male characters but his rendering of the lines of 'Kate Riley' was unsurpassed. In response to an encore he sang a song in the Creole dialect."
